

News under the West African sun

Winter apparently doesn't feel like leaving Europe and the America's yet; some countries were even treated with a fresh layer of snow over Easter. We on the other hand are getting ready for the next winter season with journeys to our sunlit destinations.

Meeting Papillon?

In the next couple of months we'll be attending several fairs in The Netherlands. And we would love to meet you there to answer your questions on our journeys and destinations. And of course you're also more than welcome to meet Papillon's crew. We'll bring a collection of fairtrade African handicrafts; their sales contributing to the Papillon Emergency fund.

Dates and locations are listed in our journeys and activities calendar.

Togo & Benin Culture journey - From Fishing to Voodoo

They are often mentioned in one sentence: neighboring countries Togo and Benin. Not only because they can easily be combined in a journey, but also because they have lots to offer the curious traveler. For those of you who are looking for a journey combining culture and sun, we have created a beautiful journey for the upcoming winter.

This journey offers an introduction to local life and voodoo culture in Togo and Benin. You'll visit places, that played a role in slavery history, meet craftsmen, do a butterfly walk, sleep in Tamberma Country and in a stilt hotel, attend the amazing fire dances of the Bassar region, visit voodoo festivals and learn about centuries old customs and habits of several tribes. These and more are the ingredients of this unique 23-day journey through known and unknown Togo and Benin.

Available as a group journey (21 December 2013 - 12 January 2014) and as a tailor-made journey.
