

Discover Mali's art mud-cloth workshop

Ségou is home to several bogolan (mud-cloth) studios. Each of them offers the chance to get an introduction to the ancient techniques of dying and decorating fabrics with all natural ingredients, such as leaves, bark and mud from the Niger river.

The visit to the mud-cloth studio can be adjusted to your wishes: varying from a visit to the shop, a guided tour to get an impression of the techniques and materials used to a full day or multiple day workshop. In a workshop you learn in more detail about the process of dying, the materials and the decorations - many of which have their roots in the ancient history and culture of the ethnic groups in the country.
