The Squatted Camel & the Faramissiri Caves (Koulikoro)

The rocky and hilly landscape of the Koulikoro area holds special places and mysteries. During this outing we take you to two of these places: the Squatting Camel and the Faramissiri Caves.

By motortaxi (or other means of transport) you set out on a trip with your guide in the surroundings of Koulikoro to the rock camel.

When the village of Shô was created, the newcomers found the squatted camel in place. A mystical place, where many a vow was made, even long before the tombe was discovered.

The trip continues to the Faramissiri Caves, a site known for the annual pilgrim's journey to the mosque (missiri) located in the caves (fara = rocks). The caves and the immediate surroundings hold several mysteries (like hoof prints and the sacred snake) and offer a nice view over Koulikoro Ba and the rocky landscape. The motortaxi stops at the side of the road, from where a short walk on a rocky road leads to Faramissiri.

After the visit of the cave mosque the journey goes back to Hotel Nanagaleni.
